STEPPING UP...FOR OUR CAUSE, FOR FAMILIES, FOR HEALTHY LIVES, FOR GOOD, FOR LEADERSHIP, FOR STRONG COMMUNITIES, FOR BRIGHT FUTURES. THE Y. FOR A BETTER US.
Dear Friends,

The world is changing faster than any of us can mark. Yet, as we near our 100th Anniversary of the YMCA of Long Island, we find that despite the pace of our lives and the complex problems facing our communities, our commitment to those communities remains just as resolute as when we first began.

The world is changing fast, but our commitment is not. Thanks to you, the Y has brought hope and health to Long Island since Woodrow Wilson was President.

Now, as when we began, we strive to make a difference every single day—no matter how fast that day zips by—stepping up for those who need us most, taking the time to make the personal connections that define our relationships and our identity as an organization, and challenging ourselves to meet our members’ needs.

Now, as when we began, the Y’s impact is only possible thanks to our volunteers, donors, community partners, and dedicated staff. In 2017, we served 65,208 people of all ages, races, religions and income levels. And with your generous support, we helped families and individuals who depend on the Y by removing income as a barrier to life-changing programs and services.

When we remove barriers like that, we make it possible for those individuals to step up into lives that are what they are meant to be—lives full of promise and fulfillment, when needs are met and potential is realized. Thanks to you, our programs transform the lives of children, teens, adults, and seniors.

In 2017, we continued to make capital investments in our facilities to meet the ever-changing needs of our diverse population. Through our preschool, school age child care, and summer day camp programs, we provided a supportive environment, and empowered children to step up and cross the achievement gap. Steps like this impact education, careers, and families today, but also in the years ahead.

Our health and wellness programs inspired Long Islanders to make better choices and step up into more active day-to-day routines. Our evidence-based, chronic disease prevention and recovery programs helped thousands of people step up into longer, healthier, and more fulfilling lives, and to make and strengthen the connections so vital for community development.

We are proud to give opportunities for people to be healthy, to learn, to connect with others, and to give back. Together, we will continue stepping up to deliver on our mission of social responsibility for our community—just as we always have.

Thank you for walking beside us, as a supporter, as our partner, and as our friend, to step up and build a better us.

Gratefully,

Anne N. Brigis
President & CEO
As we expand our footprint and impact more lives across Long Island, we are proud to share 2017’s initiatives that were extended, developed, piloted, and incubated over the course of the year. With all of our facilities, programs, and services bound as one powerful Y, alongside our partners and supporters, we are stronger and better together.

YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

At the YMCA of Long Island, we believe the values and skills a child learns early on are vital building blocks for life. Our youth programs offer developmental opportunities from early childhood through late adolescence, both in Y branches and outside of them, with an emphasis on out-of-school time. Children and teens learn positive behaviors, explore their unique talents and interests, and recognize and begin to develop their potential.

Already a significant child care provider, the Y committed to increasing services in Early Childhood Education and School Age Child Care (SACC). With thanks to a generous multi-year capacity building grant from the Rauch Foundation, a staff position, Executive Director of Youth Development and Education, was added and has worked throughout 2017 to create new preschool programs, implement new curriculum, forge strong relationships with school districts to provide Universal Pre-Kindergarten (UPK), standardize curriculum for preschool, and increase the number of SACC sites across the island.

At the YMCA Summer Day Camp, children have the opportunity to explore nature, discover new talents, try new activities, gain independence, and make lasting friendships. In 2017, our day camps continued to bustle with different activities as we served 4,824 children. We launched weekly camp sessions at the Huntington YMCA, YMCA at Glen Cove, and YMCA East Hampton RECenter for the first time, providing more flexibility and affordability to families. In East Hampton, Huntington, and Bay Shore YMCAs, “lights, places, action everyone” can be heard at our Performing Arts Camp. Our young campers play a part in each aspect of the performance. They came away from this summer experience with increased confidence, improved listening skills, and the satisfaction that together they can really do great things.

With thanks to Bethpage Federal Credit Union, the YMCA served 850 children and families at the 2017 Healthy Kids Day®, the Y’s national awareness initiative to improve the health and well-being of children. The event was held at five YMCA branches in Nassau and Suffolk County, including East Hampton, Patchogue, Bay Shore, Huntington and Glen Cove. We also held a pop-up Healthy Kids Day® in Wyandanch, NY. During the day of activities, children and families learned all about the long-term benefits of exercise and proper nutrition, and they enjoyed fun and healthy activities, games, arts & crafts, giveaways and much more.

At the Great South Bay YMCA, programs for children with diverse-abilities continued to grow in 2017. We partnered with local organizations to provide children with Inclusion Specialists at summer day camp, fitness and health programs for the visually impaired, the Autistic RESPITE program, and swim programs for children with disabilities. Through our partnership with the LIAM Foundation, 42 children were able to experience the magic of summer day camp with the help of 15 Inclusion Specialists. The Great South Bay Y also held its first preschool fashion show. With more than 150 guests, the event supported our Financial Assistance program to help local families’ access preschool programs, which serve more than 400 children, ages 1–5, daily. In partnership with Challenger Athletics Inc., the Great South Bay YMCA offered Challenger Basketball enabling children with disabilities to play basketball with the assistance of a buddy helping him/her through all aspects of the practice.

The YMCA East Hampton RECenter’s School-To-Swim program continued to provide critical swimming safety instruction for school age children located on the South Fork of Long Island. During school hours, local schools brought their students, Kindergarten through 5th grade, to learn how to swim. The Kiwanis Club of East Hampton helps to fund this swim program for students in Pre-K and Kindergarten. In 2017, more than 1,300 students received a scholarship for this program.

The Great South Bay YMCA continues to expand the Y Act Out Theater program for children interested in exploring their talents, or for the more experienced artist looking to hone their skills. In 2017, we served 224 students during the school year including six full-staged productions, in addition to our “production with instruction” classes throughout the year for ages 4–15. Dance, art, and special events are also part of the varied cultural arts programs we offer year-round. The YMCA Boulton Center for the Performing Arts was proud to introduce their new Educational Children’s Theater School Trip Program to provide high-quality live performances for students, featuring professional adult actors, full sets, and quality sound and lighting. The school trip performances are aimed to combine the magic of live theater with the NYS Board of Education approved literature. In 2017, 30 shows were performed with a total audience of 6,000 children.

The Huntington YMCA orchestrated its first completely staged theatrical production for our Performing Arts program at the YMCA Boulton Center for the Performing Arts. The students worked for several weeks preparing for Disney’s “The Lion King” with professional microphones, makeup, costumes, and sets. The effort was a collaboration with the Great South Bay YMCA and the house opened to a sold-out show.

YMCA Family Services provided much-needed resources across Long Island in 2017. The Prevention staff visited all the Y camp locations to work with the pre-teen and teen campers, providing sessions on bullying, how to handle and manage stress, peer pressure, drug awareness, internet safety and making healthy choices. At the branch, we continued to fill gaps where services are limited at schools. We provided socialization groups for children having difficulty making and keeping friends, and we implemented Girl Power groups to help girls who might be struggling with self-image. We also provided Banana Splits groups, which helped children whose parents are getting divorced or were recently divorced.
HEALTHY LIVING

In Fall 2017, thanks to the generous support of our Capital Campaign donors, we broke ground at the Huntington YMCA for the new Healthy Living Center. The event featured friends and longtime supporters such as Capital Campaign Co-Chairs Chris Mitchell and Kyle Mostransky, Huntington Y Board Chair Ed Glackin, New York State Senators John Flanagan and Carl Marcellino, Town Supervisor Frank Petrone and Judy Jorge, representing her family, who have named the Huntington YMCA’s beautiful new space the Arlindo and Evelyn Jorge Family Healthy Living Center. A highlight of our groundbreaking event was the powerful testimony of a cancer survivor and LIVESTRONG® at the Y participant who referred to the Huntington YMCA as her secret weapon in the fight against cancer. In her words, she said “Not only did I have my faith and my beautiful family, but I had the glue to hold it all together. I had my YMCA family and the LIVESTRONG program on my side to keep me anchored.” The 29,000 square foot Healthy Living Center will house a 7,500 square foot gymnasium with a suspended walking and running track, a cycling studio, adult fitness studios, a child watch center, a teaching kitchen, a craft/STEM workshop, community education rooms, and locker rooms, providing a myriad of health and wellness opportunities. Expanded programming in diabetes prevention, fall prevention, cancer recovery and fitness for those with arthritis will be housed in the Healthy Living Center.

2017 brought continued growth of YMCA Chronic Disease Prevention and Recovery Programs across Long Island. Hundreds of participants were able to lead healthier lives through these Y evidence-based programs, including LIVESTRONG® at the YMCA, Moving For Better Balance, a fall prevention program, Enhance®Fitness, our newly-launched Chronic Disease Self-Management Program, and our newly-expanded Weight Loss Program.

Enhance®Fitness, an evidence-based physical activity program proven to increase the physical, mental, and social functioning of older adults, particularly those with arthritis, was expanded due to a grant from the New York State YMCA Foundation, allowing the Y to reach beyond our branches and into underserved communities.

With a growing senior population across Long Island, the Y continues to enhance programs that meet the needs of our aging membership as well as the community. In 2017, PSEG Foundation and PSEG Long Island generously awarded $114,000 over two years to underwrite three senior social and physical wellness programs, including Moving for Better Balance, Active Older Adults Day, and a weekly Senior Social Hour. In May, the Y and PSEG celebrated Active Older Adults Day by hosting fitness and swim classes, health screenings and informational fairs at all branches across Long Island, which were free and open to the community. The weekly senior social hours encouraged social interaction, education and important resources such as healthy cooking, financial tips, achieving cost savings on an electricity bill, and smart financial planning. The connections made... in both the group exercise settings and social environments laid the foundation for establishing meaningful communities of support and created a sense of belonging for senior participants.

We brought communities together to show thousands of people what the YMCA is all about through our annual YMCA 5K Run/Walks, hosted by the Patchogue Family YMCA, Huntington YMCA, and Great South Bay YMCA. The Patchogue Family YMCA held its 4th annual 5K, honoring Mike Souto of Deer Park Stairs, with 613 registered runners and funds raised benefitting the Y Diabetes Prevention Program. The YMCA 5K Run/Walk in Memory of Marcie Mazzola helped raise funds that established camp scholarships for local children. The YMCA 5K Run/Walk in Memory of Judi benefitted cancer survivors through financial assistance to local families battling breast cancer, scholarships to local high school seniors impacted by breast cancer, and support for LIVESTRONG® at the YMCA program.

The Patchogue Family YMCA was also the epicenter of the 2017 Suffolk County Marathon, with more than 2,500 registered runners, we opened up our doors for the community and raised critical funds to support Veterans living on Long Island.

The YMCA East Hampton RECenter introduced a new program, Power Over Parkinson’s, a weekly support group, that focuses on exercise and social wellness to stave off the effects of the disease.

Thanks to generous support from Stew Leonard III Children’s Charities, 160 children learned valuable water safety skills through Y swim lessons. Both Stew Leonard III Children’s Charities and Capital One Bank supported water safety with a strong force of local lifeguards. Generous underwriting support allowed 20 young people to become American Red Cross certified lifeguards.

At the Great South Bay YMCA, we have made a significant commitment to youth fitness offering new classes for kids ages 8-17. These free programs include Strength Training, Body Blaster for Girls, and Strong Kids. All are designed to give kids the ability, knowledge, and confidence to exercise safely and to teach kids the importance of a healthy lifestyle. We also focused on expanding fitness opportunities for those who may need additional support maintaining an active lifestyle. We partnered with Third Eye Insight to provide exercise programs for adults who are visually impaired. Participants can enjoy indoor cycling classes, water aerobics, small group training, and more.

The Patchogue Family YMCA held its annual Golden Games in September 2017, in partnership with the Westhampton Care Center and Golden Games Inc. More than 80 participants from nine care facilities and group homes participated in modified athletic games, as well as an opening and closing ceremony.
SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

The 2017 Annual Campaign raised $1,445,633 island-wide to help provide financial assistance and underwrite free programs for youth, teens, adults, and seniors. YMCA branches opened their doors during the annual “My Y Week” campaign with some popular local events including: Laps for Lessons at the Patchogue YMCA, Spin-a-thon at the Great South Bay YMCA, Open Your Heart and Change A Life at the YMCA at Glen Cove, Zumba Night at the Huntington YMCA, and Charity Cycle at the YMCA East Hampton RECenter. “My Y Week” is designed to engage members in the YMCA of Long Island Annual Campaign by providing opportunities for them to give back and get involved.

As 2017 marked the Great South Bay YMCA’s 25th Anniversary, a fabulous event was held at the YMCA Boulton Center for the Performing Arts in February gathering key stakeholders and friends including Great South Bay Board Chair, David Williams, Board Members, Susan Barbash, Frank and Karen Boulton, Donna and Bill Bondy, Jerry Leo, and James G. Taylor. It was a big night of reflection on the collective impact of the YMCA. Twenty-five years of lives changed and improved, and the wonderful transformation of the Bay Shore community with the help of the YMCA.

2017 marked the fourth consecutive year of Imagination Station, an early literacy summer camp program aimed at preventing summer learning loss. With thanks to the generous support of the Rauch Foundation and the Pritchard Charitable Trust, Imagination Station included summer reading and enrichment for preschool to 3rd grade children, serving 1,940 students. 98.7% participants either maintained or advanced their reading level. Capital One also supported literacy by underwriting Capital One Y Readers, ensuring all campers read 30 minutes per day, and had access to an extensive camp library at each branch. Astoria Bank, and MSC Direct provided generous support enabling several students to receive 100% scholarships to attend summer camp for six weeks, and to participate in Imagination Station. The Y provided 6 weeks of camp for free to 71 students, referred by school social workers from local districts. Of the 71 students, 89% of scholarship recipients maintained their reading level, 8% improved their reading level by one grade level, and 2% decreased in reading at the level tested (Qualitative Reading Inventory, Leslie & Caldwell, 2000). Additionally, 14% of all other camp participants received some financial assistance which increased access and opportunity for the achievement gap population.

The YMCA of Long Island continued to be a leader in YUSA’s DIG (Diversity, Inclusion, and Global) Innovation Network. The DIG Innovation Network is committed to outreach to diverse and underserved communities, community bridge-building, and driving program innovation so everyone has an opportunity to reach their full potential.
PSEG Foundation and PSEG Long Island funded the introduction of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) projects in all of our summer day camp locations in 2017. Age-appropriate activities provided campers with critical-thinking and problem-solving skills through the opportunity to make rain clouds, slime, catapults, a marble run and more!

Stop by the Huntington YMCA on a Tuesday evening, and you might be surprised to find a drum or guitar circle, fitness class, or a craft project all simultaneously happening at Community Connections. This 6-week program, offered in the spring and fall, serves young adults with disabilities. The YMCA provides arts, music and socialization opportunities for two hours weekly, and receives rave reviews. Participants love the program, family members are grateful for the engagement, and YMCA staff have a blast conducting the workshops.

In 2017, the YMCA Boulton Center for the Performing Arts broke ground in a front lobby renovation to enhance the guest experience for our patrons, thanks to a grant underwritten by Assemblyman Phil Ramos. The theater provides high-quality arts programs that entertain, educate, and inspire our diverse population on Long Island. Due to the generosity of our supporters, we were able to entertain and educate more than 18,000 guests.

Thanks to the support of the Town of East Hampton, over $950,000 of capital improvements were made to the YMCA East Hampton RECenter’s pool area, including a new air handling system, boilers, and steel support columns. In addition, $50,000 was raised by the East Hampton Lifeguard Association for the installation of a state-of-the-art ultra-violet water filtration system.
